

TAFT COMPLETES PLANS FOR TRIPS

Leaves This Afternoon for Cincinnati to Cast His Vote.

STARTS TO PANAMA NEXT WEDNESDAY.

Personnel of the Party Is Decided. No Women Will Go.

President Taft will leave Washington this afternoon for Cincinnati, where he will vote at the O'Brienville precinct tomorrow.

The President will be accompanied by Secretary Norton, who will vote in Chicago, and Capt. Archibald Butt, military aid. The President will reach Washington again Wednesday morning and leave almost immediately for Panama.

The personnel of the President's Panama party was announced this morning. It will include the President, his brother, Charles P. Taft, who will come to Washington with the President tomorrow afternoon; Secretary Norton, Lieut. Palmer, naval aid, and Captain Butt, military aid.

Mrs. Taft will not accompany the President, as at first rumored, nor will the party comprise any women. The President sails from Charleston Thursday morning on the armored cruiser Tennessee. He will be conveyed by the Montana. It is planned that the journey will consume, in all, about fifteen days.

The voyages to and from the Isthmus will take four days each and these eight days will be largely devoted to the preparation of the President's message to Congress. Mr. Taft will leave Washington with a large number of books and public documents which will be consulted in the preparation of the message.

The President definitely decided today to accept the invitation to address the convention of the Virginia State Teachers' Association at Richmond on the morning of November 23. The President expects to reach Charleston, on his return trip, November 22. He will proceed by rail to Richmond and from that city will take up the winter's work.

ASYLUM ATTENDANT BLAMED FOR DEATH

Former Inmate Requests Warrant Also Against Physician.

Warrants for Clarence Settle, an attendant at the Government Hospital for Insane, and Dr. W. J. Kennedy, a member of the staff of the Washington Asylum Hospital, were sought from Assistant United States Attorney Ralph Given today in Police Court by John W. Currell, a former inmate of both institutions.

Mr. Given informed Currell, who was accompanied by Attorney H. Anton Heilmuller, other witnesses besides himself would be required before the warrants could be issued. Currell declared he had the names of other witnesses.

In his statement to Prosecutor Given in asking for a warrant for Settle, charging him with manslaughter, Currell alleged that the attendant was responsible for the death of Elzie O. Sanbury, an epileptic patient, who died last June. Currell reiterated the allegations he made in the District Supreme Court when he was given a hearing as to his sanity and was discharged, and accused Settle of kicking the Sanbury youth in the breast.

Criminal negligence was the charge that Currell wanted preferred against Dr. Kennedy. The charge, he said, was in connection with the death of a patient named Walter Benson. Currell claimed that Benson was put in a hot bath as a punishment for being noisy and that he lived only one hour afterward.

FIRST MARINE TAXI STARTS ON VOYAGE

To Engage In Treasure Hunt and Carry Passengers, Is Report.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—The world's first taxi-schooner today sailed from her berth here, where she was equipped with a 20-horsepower engine.

She is the schooner Ellesmere, and started on her long journey for the Panama coast, where she will engage in a treasure hunting expedition, and carry passengers most anywhere they want to go on the Spanish Main.

She also will carry mail for the Panama government.

The trip to the Southern waters is a dangerous one for small boats at this time of year, but Captain Goodwin, of Gloucester, is confident of making it without mishap.

The Ellesmere's owners, Jose Terento and Manuel Culbeta, two Spaniards, sailed aboard her. They denied they intended seeking treasure near the ancient town of San Blas, but the report would not down along the water front.

The Spaniards declared they intended to be only prosaic marine taxi-cab chauffeurs.

Mr. Graves is survived by his wife, Mrs. Katherine Graves, and a son and daughter by his first wife.

"ADAM FOREPAUGH" SHOT.

"Adam Forepaugh," a laughing hyena named after the showman who presented him to the local Zoological Park in 1885, has been shot, it being found that he was attacked with suicidal mania and that he had tried to kill himself several times. Hyenas are said to be subject to these attacks and a similar case is recorded some years ago.

OLD JET CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM

James Dyer, General Miles' Hostler, Found Dead on Bed.

The antiquated style of gas jet without a stop on the thumb screw, which is still to be found in many old residences in Washington, and which has been responsible for numerous deaths by accidental asphyxiation, has claimed one more victim.

Lying across the bed in the little room which he occupied in the house at 1104 Eighteenth street northwest, James Dyer, sixty-five years old, was found dead yesterday afternoon. Gas was flowing from the open jet near the head of the bed, and a burned match in the man's hand indicated he had fallen across the bed while endeavoring to light the gas.

In the room were two bottles partly filled with whisky, and the police say Dyer spent Saturday evening in a saun in the neighborhood. Little is known of the man at the Eighteenth street house, as he had been living there only three days. The police say he was employed as hostler by Gen. Nelson A. Miles, who is out of the city.

The style of gas jet, which, it is thought, was responsible for Dyer's death has been the subject of numerous recommendations by the Coroner and the Coroner's jury. Coroner Nevitt has recommended that legislation be enacted providing for stops on all gas jets in the District. The old style of burners are made in such a way that the thumb screw can be turned completely around in either direction, and there is no way of telling whether the gas is entirely turned off.

CHORUS LEADER DEAD.

Announcement has been received here of the death of N. Dushane Cloward, who was formerly well known here as the director of a large chorus in connection with the Marine Band, which sang at the second Cleveland inauguration. Mr. Cloward died in Wilmington, Del., last night, from uraemic poisoning.

COOK PREPARED TO UPHOLD CLAIM

The letter was dated London, England, October 18. In it Dr. Cook said he has almost completed all of his letters, and original data for submission to the scientific societies.

In discussing the Knud Rasmussen report from Greenland that Rasmussen has interviewed the Cook and Peary Eskimos and has concluded that neither Cook nor Peary reached a point within 100 miles of the Pole, Captain Osborn said today:

"Of course there can be no question that those hardy natives of the North, are capable of making astronomical observations and did make them and thus can positively say how far north both Cook and Peary went. In Dr. Cook's letter to me, he says:

"My case will eventually rest on its own merits without reference to rival interests."

"When the data and maps of Dr. Cook are compiled and published, as they will be very soon, they will convince the world that Dr. Frederick A. Cook is in the least disturbed by the years handed out from time to time for the purpose of discrediting the claims which he will give to the world at large in the very near future."

PASTOR SAYS NOAH WAS NATURE FAKER

Chicago Minister Calls Story "Most Palpable Sort of Lie."

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The crowning nature fake is the biblical story of Noah's rescue of animals from the great flood, according to a statement by Dr. Emil G. Hirsch in his sermon last night at Sinai Temple.

"There may have been a Noah," said Dr. Hirsch, "but the inundation story is the most palpable sort of a lie. Even if there had been the flood and Noah really built him an enormous ark for the safe conveyance of the favored people and the beasts, it would have been a physical impossibility for such a large group of living things to have survived a voyage in a single vessel."

"The primitive peoples of earth were impressionable as children today. They would easily give credence to such a tale as that of Noah's voyage, and pass it down to their children. But today we must accept it only as a pretty fabrication."

WIRES ARE READY FOR ELECTION DAY

Companies Repair Damages In Time for Big Rush of Returns.

With continued fair weather predicted for tonight and tomorrow wire communication between Washington and the rest of the world, already restored sufficiently for the handling of business, will be completely repaired in time tomorrow for the biggest rush of the year—the transmission of election news from every Congressional district in the United States.

Both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company were equipped to handle messages this morning, and by noon their services were improved to a point of almost full efficiency.

W. U. Report.

The Western Union's chief operator, J. W. Collins, said that approximately 90 of the 100 wires connecting the company's Washington office with Baltimore, were now available, and that the company would accept business freely for all points. Gangs working from Washington and Baltimore met yesterday, linking the lines they were repairing. Mr. Collins stated that the Western Union would be fully prepared to handle the election news tomorrow.

The Postal, too, will be ready to handle election news tomorrow. Chief Operator C. F. Thompson announced today that the company already had a sufficiency of wires to Baltimore to handle business for that city and the points farther northeast. Four wires directly to New York and two to Chicago, worked in "quadruplex" system, afforded ample communication with those cities. Mr. Thompson said along the highway leading through Annapolis Junction will have to be remade as the wires in several places are down for a distance of three miles. The damage to that line, Mr. Thompson said, was almost exactly similar to the damage done in the storm that cut Washington off from the rest of the world at President Taft's inauguration.

Restored Service.

All service will be completely restored by tomorrow, Mr. Thompson said. The telephone company stated that the damages to its equipment were practically repaired. Few local telephones were put out of commission and the trouble with suburban wires has been removed. The company has a sufficiency of long distance wires available to make service satisfactory.
